FOREWORD

IN presenting this list of books by and about Walt Whitman, the compilers hesitate to call it a Bibliography. For it lacks much of the minutiae a true Bibliography should have. It is, rather, a check-list of the works of Whitman and a list of about fifty books that have been written about him.

Whitman's principal work, Leaves of Grass, though practically one book, was issued in such various forms and editions, that it makes a library in itself. It is our intent to provide a safe and reliable guide to these various editions, that may be of helpful interest to the collector, the student, and the librarian.

Many editions of English publishers are listed, but though the works have been translated into German, Dutch, Danish, Italian, Russian, Japanese, and Spanish, these foreign books are not here included. Nor are the short and unrelated bits in magazines and newspapers mentioned, nor such poems as have been included in various anthologies.

In regard to the early and rare editions we have given all details necessary to identify such issues, in preference to a strict transcription of the title-page, as some of the early books can hardly be said to have a title-page. Of the later and modern editions we have given exact transcriptions, as the changes in various cases seemed to require it.

There are many books about Walt Whitman that have not been included. The omission of a book is not necessarily a disparagement of the volume, but we present a representative list, useful to the student and collector.

Much good work has already been done in this field by P. K. Foley, Oscar Lovell Triggs, Professor Emory Holloway, Henry M. Saunders, and Frank Shay.

Books about an author are rarely included in a Bibliography, but many of those written about Whitman are of such importance that they are as difficult to get and of as much interest to a collector or student of the poet, as are his own works. Indeed, the books by John Burroughs and Dr. Maurice Bucke were so carefully edited by Whitman as almost to be considered, in part at least, as autobiographical.

hundred and fifty copies, 8vo, red cloth, uncut, paper label. Also an English edition, same date, published by Archibald Constable and Company, Ltd.

Reprinted with slight additions in the Riverside Popular Biographies, 1908.

A CONCISE BIBLIOGRAPHY OF WALT WHITMAN

1842

FRANKLIN EVANS; OR THE INE- BRIATE.

Original Temperance Novel. Published as an extra to The New World. New York, November, 1842. No. 34.

Royal octavo, 31 pp. uncut.

Printed in pamphlet form, no covers and never printed as a separate bound book.
A complete reprint is in "The Uncollected Prose and Poetry of Walt Whitman," by Emory Holloway.

1855

LEAVES OF GRASS. First Edition.

Preface xii. Pp. 95. End blank.

Quarto. Green cloth. Blind stamped, rustic lettered title, also triple-line border stamped in gilt on front and back covers. Backstrip shows lettering and ornaments gold stamped. Gilt edges. Marbled end-papers. Frontispiece portrait on plain paper. Author's name in copyright notice on verso of title-page, and again on page 29. Brooklyn, N.Y., 1855.

The above describes the issue most desired by collectors and is probably the earliest issue. It is unlikely that all the copies were bound at once, as some lack the gilt edges, or the gold lines on the covers, and some show plain end-papers.

It has been said that later copies were less ornate to save a few cents on the cost of binding, but this is mere conjecture.

The last issue of the first edition, commonly called the second issue, is in every way like the first issue, except that:

The title is stamped in gold on front cover only. The gold border lines and the gilt edges are omitted. The end-papers are yellow, and eight pages of press notices are inserted, sometimes found at the beginning of the volume and sometimes at the end. In most copies the frontispiece is on India paper.

Of each of these issues there were a few paper bound copies, in various colors, with the title printed across the front cover in black block letters. Though these are exceedingly rare and perhaps of all Whitman items are most desired by collectors, yet they are not necessarily first issues of the first edition.

Of three copies at present known, two show the bound-in pages of press comments, which only appeared in the second issue, and the other has the India paper frontispiece, which also was used in the second issue.

The volume contains twelve poems.

A few copies found their way to England. These have a little sticker over the imprint at the foot of title-page, and bear the name of a London bookseller or publisher.

1856

LEAVES OF GRASS. Second Edition.

Thick 16mo, dull green cloth, title in gilt, quotation from Emerson's letter: "I greet you at the beginning of a great career. R. W. Emerson," on backstrip. Brooklyn, N.Y., 1856.

This volume was published by Fowler and Wells, and while they refused to print their name on the title-page, all copies have a leaf of Fowler and Wells' advertisements at the end of the volume. This volume contains thirty-two poems. Although one thousand copies were printed, the book is quite a rarity and is seldom found in good condition.

LEAVES OF GRASS. Imprints.

American and European criticisms of Leaves of Grass.

16mo. Light brown wrappers. THAYER AND ELDRIDGE, Boston, 1860. Date on back cover and title-page.

This was a reprint of criticisms of the first and second editions. Pages 7, 30, 38, contain articles written by Walt Whitman anonymously to various papers. Dr. Bucke is the authority for this statement. The pamphlet was supplied gratuitously by the publishers as an advertisement. The letter of Emerson to Whitman is reprinted in full on reverse of the first fly-leaf.

On account of its size and frail make-up, it is now very rare. A reprint may be found in "In Re Walt Whitman."

1860-61

LEAVES OF GRASS. Third Edition.

Thick 8vo. Orange cloth. THAYER AND ELDRIDGE, Boston, 1860-61.

There were many issues of this edition in various colors and textures of cloth, and with differing ornament. Although there is no absolute proof, the first issue was probably orange cloth with heavy blind embossing in wavy vertical lines, with title and butterfly design on backstrip, and a blind symbolical ornament with words "Leaves of Grass" heavily blind-stamped on covers; frontispiece portrait after painting by Charles Hine, printed on plain white paper. Later issues, the same year, were made in different shades of cloth with varying ornamentation and the blind embossing. The portrait is the same, but is surrounded with a buff tint, which was added to strengthen the picture. As many as twelve varieties of color, cloth, and embossing have been noted.

The curious cloth and heavy embossing were not original with Whitman. Such bindings were a product of the time, and several other books of this period bear the same binding.

On all editions of these issues, the title-page is the same, but the genuine Thayer and Eldridge editions (besides the regular copyright notice on verso of the title-page) bear the inscription: "Electrotyped at the Boston Stereotype Foundry. Printed by George C. Rand and Avery."

There is a very rare issue of this edition of which a few copies have been noted; these are large 8vo, wide margins, front and bottom edges uncut, bound in purple pebbled cloth, without the usual ornaments on binding. The only copies known were found in England, and it is probable that a small number were sent to London and were bound there. This issue has the portrait on plain paper untinted.

1860-61
(1879-188-)

LEAVES OF GRASS.

8vo, brown cloth. THAYER AND ELDRIDGE, Boston, 1860-61.

This is a spurious issue of the 1860-61 Thayer and Eldridge edition, having the same title-page and frontispiece, both plain and tinted — yet this edition was not published until 1879.

Owing to financial difficulties caused by the Civil War, the firm of Thayer and Eldridge was forced to give up business. The plates of their "Leaves of Grass" were sold at auction and subsequently (about 1879) became the property of Richard Worthington, a New York publisher, who offered Whitman $250.00 to authenticate the edition and add a few extra poems. Whitman indignantly refused, and Worthington then issued an edition in reddish-brown cloth, imitating the Thayer and Eldridge edition as to format and portrait. At the end of the volume, he inserted several pages, advertising his other publications.

This issue he at once followed up with other editions, omitting the advertisements, but getting a still closer imitation of the genuine issue, by the use of heavier paper, though various weights of paper were used later.

Worthington reprinted the book for years, and although against the wishes of Whitman (who went so far as to institute legal proceedings against him), some sort of a compromise must have been effected, as there is at least one record of a small amount received by Walt Whitman from Worthington as royalty.

Thousands of these spurious editions were sold and the book is quite common; it can be readily detected, as all the Worthington reprints lack the words: "Electrotyped at the Boston Stereotype Foundry. Printed by George C. Rand and Avery," on the verso of the title-page.

WALT WHITMAN'S DRUM TAPS.

12mo, brown cloth, plain white edges, title on gilt background in circle on front cover. New York, 1865.

A few copies were issued containing "Drum Taps" only. On the death of Lincoln, Whitman held up the edition and added "When Lilacs Last in the Dooryard Bloom'd," with separate title-page and pagination. The genuine first issue without "Sequel" has very thin paper fly-leaves and plain edges. In the second issue the fly-leaves are heavier and the edges speckled.

1865

WALT WHITMAN'S DRUM TAPS.

12mo, brown cloth, brown sprinkled edges, title on gilt background, in circle on front cover. New York, 1865.

This issue contains the "Sequel," with the following title-page: "Sequel to Drum Taps." (Since the preceding came from the press,) "When Lilacs Last in the Door-yard Bloom'd and Other Pieces." Washington, 1865-66.

The added section contains a leaf of contents and extra pagination, pages 4-24.

Also an English edition, 12mo, decorated boards, uncut, 12 page introduction, published by Chatto and Windus, London, 1915.

1867

LEAVES OF GRASS. 1867. Fourth Edition.

Narrow 8vo, half black morocco, marbled board sides, leather corners, marbled edges, title, "Leaves of Grass" in gold stamping on backstrip. No portrait. New York, 1867.

This issue was printed for Whitman by William E. Chapin, Beekman Street, New York. The name of neither publisher nor author appears on the title-page. Whitman's name is mentioned in the copyright notice on verso of title, and the printer's name appears at the foot of the same page.

Published in various forms, which were all issued in the same year:

First: "Leaves of Grass" only. 338 pp.

Second: "Leaves of Grass," with "Drum Taps," and "Sequel to Drum Taps" added. These two editions have marbled edges.

Third: "Leaves of Grass," with "Songs Before Parting."

Fourth: "Leaves of Grass," "Drum Taps," "Sequel to Drum Taps," and "Songs Before Parting." 8vo, entirely uncut, gray paper wrappers. This issue is exceedingly rare.

The end-papers of these editions vary; they have been known to be white, yellow, and marbled. Also, the sides are frequently covered with brown paper in imitation of pebbled cloth. Some copies have in addition to the stamping on backstrip, the words, "Ed'n, 1867" at the foot. There is no absolute rule as to these variations, as copies with and without the added sections have "Ed'n, 1867" on backstrip.

Page four of contents to "Leaves of Grass" (of all copies) lists "Drum Taps" and "Songs Before Parting" at foot of page, though the book may not contain these added sections. Each added section has a title-page, table of contents, and separate pagination. The last of the issues above mentioned have plain edges.

This edition was crude and poorly put together. They were probably bound up in small lots as sold. This may account for the many variations.

1871

LEAVES OF GRASS. 1871. Fifth Edition.

Narrow 8vo, light green paper wrappers, entirely uncut. Washington, D.C., 1871.

On front wrapper: "J. S. Redfield, 140 Fulton St., N.Y." Whitman's name appears on verso of title-page. Advertisements of Walt Whitman's books on back cover.

The first issue contains 384 pages, a very small number were printed, and the book is very rare. A few copies have the green wrapper covered with a thin marbled paper, and bear a white paper label on the backstrip. These copies have added, "Passage to India," 120 extra pages. All copies of this later issue, noted, are autographed, and there is every reason to believe that these were hastily put together by Whitman for a few friends.

1871

AFTER ALL NOT TO CREATE ONLY.

Recited by Walt Whitman on Invitation of Managers American Institute, On Opening Their 40th Annual Exhibition. New York, noon, September 7th, 1871.

The first issue was in folio sheets, broad-side form, printed by Pearson, Washington, 1871. This consisted of a very few copies. The regular edition was in 8vo, beveled cloth boards in three shades, maroon, green, and brown. Roberts Bros., Boston, 1871. There was a cheaper edition same colors of cloth and same date in limp cloth, 12mo. The poem was later published in "Transactions" of the American Institute, 1871-72, large 8vo, leather back. Albany, 1872.

DEMOCRATIC VISTAS. Memoranda.

Narrow 12mo, light green paper wrappers, uncut, title in ink on front cover, advertisements on back cover. Washington, D.C., 1871.

Whitman's name appears in copyright notice on verso of title-page and not on title-page. Printed for Whitman by J. S. Redfield, New York.

1871

PASSAGE TO INDIA. LEAVES OF GRASS.

Five-line poem, beginning "Gliding o'er all."

Narrow 12mo, light green wrappers, uncut, title in ink on front cover, advertisements on back cover. Washington, D.C., 1871.

Whitman's name appears in copyright notice on verso of title-page and not on title-page. Printed for Whitman by J. S. Redfield, New York. A few copies were printed as a broadside in large type, same text, two sheets folio, no place, no date. (1871.)

1872

LEAVES OF GRASS.

Washington, D.C., 1872.

Narrow 8vo, smooth dark green cloth, edges uncut. Gilt lettering "Leaves of Grass Complete" on backstrip.

This is practically a second issue of the 1871 edition. All copies contain "Passage to India," with extra title-page and pagination. Later issues contain "After All, Not to Create Only." Fourteen extra pages. Whitman's name does not appear on title, but is in copyright notice on verso of title-page.

Most copies are in the smooth dark green cloth, but a few copies have been found in various shades of cheap pebbled cloth, maroon, blue and brown. This issue, in addition to title on backstrip, has an ornamental device at bottom of backstrip, and some have ornamental tooling on front and back covers.

H. Buxton Forman considered this issue an English pirated edition published by John C. Hotten. This is probable, as the binding is much in the English style of the period, but there is nothing which absolutely confirms this issue as an English edition.

AS A STRONG BIRD ON PINIONS
FREE AND OTHER POEMS.

Washington, 1872.

Narrow 8vo, green cloth, title in gilt on front cover.

Words, "Leaves of Grass," on upper portion of title-page in small type. Whit-man's name appears on verso of title-page in copyright notice. Name of printer, S. W. Green, also appears on verso of title.

1875

MEMORANDA DURING THE WAR.

By WALT WHITMAN. Author's Publication. Camden, New Jersey, 1875-76. 12mo, red-brown cloth, green end papers, all edges gilt, title on front cover reading, "Walt Whitman's Memoranda of the War. Written on the Spot in 1863-65."

The first printed page begins with the words "Remembrance Copy" with space left for written presentation and author's autograph, this is followed by "Personal Note" which occupies the remainder of the page and continues on the next. The book should contain two portraits, but occasionally has but one. Page of advertisements for Whitman's books at end of text. Almost every copy was autographed and it is improbable that more than a hundred copies were issued. The book is exceedingly rare.

LEAVES OF GRASS.

Nine-Line Poem beginning "Come, Said My Soul." Author's autograph signed in ink on title-page. Author's Edition, with portraits from Life, Camden, N.J., 1876. 8vo, half cream-colored calf, marbled board sides, brown leather label, two portraits, pages 29 and 285.

About one hundred bore a larger leather label on which was printed "Centennial Edition." A very few copies had the words "With Portraits and Intercalations" at the bottom of title-page. The intercalations were short poems printed on small slips of paper pasted down on the blank portions of the following pages:

As in a Swoon	207
The Beauty of the Ship	247
When the Full-Grown Poet Came	359
After an Interval	369

In some copies the intercalations were printed in the book, and some copies do not contain them at all. There is a variation in the intercalations: a few contain "A Death Sonnet for Custer."

Many copies have been found unautographed and some do not contain portraits.

1876

TWO RIVULETS, including Democratic Vistas, Centennial Songs, and Passage to India. Author's Edition. Camden, New Jersey, 1876.

Cream-colored calf, 8vo, half sides, marbled boards, brown leather label, portrait, "Photo'd from life, Sept., '72, Brooklyn, N.Y., by G. F. Pearsall, Fulton St.," signed "Walt Whitman, born May 31, 1819," gilt lettering.

Some copies have slightly different wording on portrait, and some give date when portrait was signed. There was an edition of one hundred copies bearing a larger brown label with the words in gilt, "Cen-ennial Edition." The 1876 "Leaves" and "Two Rivulets" were uniform in binding and were sold by Whitman as a complete edition of his works. Some copies contained the photograph without the autograph inscription. The author kept a supply of these books on hand and inscribed and autographed them as they were sold.

THE POETRY OF THE FUTURE, by
WALT WHITMAN.

8vo, pamphlet, sewed, no covers, title-page.

At top of first page are the words "From the North American Review." Pagination 196 to 210. First printed in North American Review, February, 1881. A very few copies, with pagination unaltered, were issued for a few friends of Whitman. The words "From the North American Review" were printed at top of first page, and a paper backstrip added.

1881

THE POETS' TRIBUTES TO GARFIELD.

The Collection of Poems Written for the Boston Daily Globe, and many selections. 8vo, in cloth and in pictorial wrappers. Cambridge, Mass.: Published by MOSES KING. Harvard Square. 1881.

Includes poem by Walt Whitman.

1881

LEAVES OF GRASS. Author's copyright Edition.

8vo, green cloth, uncut, frontispiece, portrait same as used in 1855 edition. Gilt lettering on backstrip and cover, black ruling on top and bottom of binding. DAVID BOGUE, London, 1881.

1881

LEAVES OF GRASS, by WALT WHITMAN.

Preface to the original edition.

Large 8vo, light blue wrappers, uncut.

Limited to five hundred copies. TRÜBNER AND Co., London, 1881.

Also an edition of twenty-five large-paper copies, signed by the editor.

1881-82

LEAVES OF GRASS.

Boston: JAMES R. OSGOOD AND COMPANY, 1881-82.

Small 8vo, dull yellow cloth, name of author and butterfly design in gilt on back-strip, author's name in gilt on front cover, portrait, page 29. JAMES R. OSGOOD AND COMPANY, Boston, 1881-82.

This edition is known as the suppressed issue, and while not actually suppressed, it was withdrawn from publication on complaint of the District Attorney of Boston acting under instructions from Attorney-General Marston. The book was also prohibited from going through the mails, but this ruling was afterward revoked. The first issue had the words "Third Edition" printed on the title-page, the error was quickly noted, and only a few copies had this line.

1882

LEAVES OF GRASS.

Nine-Line Poem beginning "Come, Said My Soul," signed with author's autograph in ink. Author's Edition. Camden, N.J., 1882.

Whitman's name in copyright notice on verso of title-page. Two portraits, one on page 29; the other on page 297.

8vo, dark green cloth, top edge gilt, back-strip lettered in gilt, "Author's Edition Leaves of Grass Complete Autograph and Portraits 1882."

This is a scarce and almost unknown issue; it is doubtful if more than one hundred copies were printed. It appeared after the suppression of the Boston edition and before the first Philadelphia edition was issued by Rees, Welsh and Company. The text and type is the same as that used in the Boston edition, the title-page only being different. All copies were autographed, and it is probable that Whitman had these made for a few friends while waiting for the first Philadelphia edition.

1882

LEAVES OF GRASS.

REES, WELSH AND COMPANY, 23 South Ninth Street, Philadelphia, 1882. The first Philadelphia edition.

Small 8vo, dull yellow cloth, portrait as in 1855 edition at page 29. Whitman's name on front cover. Title and butterfly design in gilt on backstrip. REES, WELSH AND COMPANY, Philadelphia, 1882.

Later issues the same year by David McKay who became Whitman's publisher and friend. Subsequent editions by McKay.

1883-1884-1888. A few copies of each McKay edition were large 8vo, gilt top, edges uncut, same binding and lettering as the regular issue.

In 1888 a small special edition was hastily made up to Whitman's order. The title-pages varied as to date 1882-1884-1888. Same binding as preceding editions, but having an added section with leaf of contents, and extra title-page, following page 382, reading, Annex to Preceding Pages. Sands at Seventy. Copyright by Walt Whitman. See November Boughs. David McKay. 1888, Philadelphia.

This issue contains 404 pages, while the regular editions had 382 pages.

A few copies of the 1884 McKay edition were bound up in green cloth, uncut, black lettering on binding. Imprint of Putnams on backstrip, but the title-page bears the McKay imprint. Probably a few copies made up for the London branch of G. P. Putnam's Sons.

1882

SPECIMEN DAYS AND COLLECT, by WALT WHITMAN, Author of Leaves of Grass.

[27]

8vo, dull yellow cloth, title in gilt on backstrip and front cover. REES, WELSH AND COMPANY, Philadelphia, 1882-83.

A few copies were in paper wrappers. A second issue dated the same year bears the imprint of David McKay.

In 1883 Wilson and McCormick, of Glasgow, issued an edition bearing the date 1883. This was large 8vo, dull yellow cloth, uncut, gilt lettering on backstrip. A second issue was brought out by the same firm, the same year, with slight variations of binding. The publishers' name was omitted from the backstrip, and the lettering on the backstrip changed.

LEAVES OF GRASS.

Large 8vo, uncut, dull yellow cloth, title in gilt and gilt lettering on backstrip. WILSON AND MCCORMICK, Glasgow, 1884. Portrait frontispiece.

Uniform with "Specimen Days and Collect." Published by same firm.

1885

OBSEQUIES OF RED JACKET.

Volume III of Transactions of the Buffalo Historical Society. Published by order of the Society. Buffalo, 1885.

Large 8vo, green wrappers. Contains "Red Jacket, an Impromptu," by Walt Whitman.

SPECIMEN DAYS IN AMERICA. By

WALT WHITMAN.

Newly revised by the author, with fresh preface and additional note. London: WALTER SCOTT, 24 Warwick Lane, Paternoster Row, 1887.

16mo, blue cloth, white paper label, uncut.

Reprinted in various colors of cloth, and also issued in 16mo, green cloth, gilt lettering, by George Routledge and Sons, Ltd. Later issues are uncut.

1888

NOVEMBER BOUGHS. By WALT WHITMAN.

Philadelphia: DAVID MCKAY, 23 South Ninth Street, 1888.

Large 8vo, maroon or green cloth, title in gilt on backstrip and front cover.

Some copies have portrait frontispiece. Also a small issue of large paper copies in small quarto, uncut, dark green cloth, and a few in limp maroon or blue cloth, same size.

Also an English edition, large 8vo, dark green or maroon cloth, portrait frontispiece. Published by Alexander Gardner, Paisley and London, 1889.

1888

DEMOCRATIC VISTAS, AND OTHER PAPERS. By WALT WHITMAN.

Published by arrangement with the author. London: WALTER SCOTT, 24 Warwick Lane, Paternoster Row, 1888.

12mo, cloth, white paper label, uncut; portrait.

Reprints in various shades of cloth, and also issued in 16mo, green cloth, by George Routledge and Sons and Company, Ltd., and by J. M. Dent and Sons, London, in combination with "Leaves of Grass," one vol. 1912.

A few copies of the 1888 edition, probably for review, were in brown paper wrappers.

1888

COMPLETE POEMS AND PROSE OF
WALT WHITMAN, 1855-1888.

Authenticated and Personal. (Handled by Walt Whitman.) Portraits from life. Autograph.

Large 8vo, half cloth, marbled sides, uncut, title on backstrip.

Portrait on title-page, one page of text, followed by title-page to "Leaves of Grass," with nine-line poem beginning "Come, Said my Soul." Signed with author's autograph in ink. Neither place nor publisher is given on title-page. The book was issued for Whitman in 1888. Six hundred numbered copies. Printed by Ferguson Brothers and Company, Philadelphia. Portraits at pages 29, 296, 374. Some copies are not numbered and lack portraits. A few copies were bound in half leather and some in full gray buckram.

1889—

LEAVES OF GRASS.

With Sands at Seventy and A Backward Glance o'er Travel'd Roads. May 31, 1889.

Today, after finishing my 70th year, the fancy comes for celebrating it by a special complete, final utterance, in one handy volume of L. of G. with their Annex, and Backward Glance—and for stamping and sprinkling all with portraits and facial photos, such as they actually were, taken from life, different stages. Doubtless, anyhow, the volume is more a Person than a book. And for testimony to all (and good measure) I here with pen and ink append my name: Walt Whitman. Portraits from Life: autograph; special edition. (Three hundred copies only printed — $5 each.) 12mo, limp leather (black morocco) marbled end-papers, made in regular book form and also with flap, pocket-book style with inner pocket for papers, gilt edges, photographic portrait frontispiece, and other illustrations. Whitman's autograph on title-page in ink. Printed by FERGUSON BROS. AND COMPANY, Philadelphia.

This is a scarce book and a good copy is difficult to find.

GIORDANO BRUNO. PHILOSOPHER AND MARTYR.

Two addresses by Daniel G. Brinton and Thomas Davidson, M.A.

Narrow 8vo, brown cloth, gilt lettering on front cover. DAVID McKAY, Philadelphia.

This contains a preface by Walt Whitman.

1891-

GOOD-BYE, MY FANCY. *2d Annex to
Leaves of Grass.*

Philadelphia, DAVID MCKAY, Publisher,
23 South Ninth Street, 1891.

Large 8vo, dark green or maroon cloth,
title in gilt on backstrip and front cover.

Also a small issue, large paper copies, small quarto, uncut, portrait. In dark green or maroon cloth, same lettering.

1891-92

LEAVES OF GRASS.

Including Sands at Seventy. 1st Annex,
Good-Bye, My Fancy; 2d Annex, A Backward Glance o'er Travel'd Roads, and Portrait from Life. (Nine-line poem, facsimile signature of the author.) Philadelphia: DAVID MCKAY, Publisher, 23
South Ninth Street, 1891-2.

The first issue consisted of a very few copies. Large 8vo, rough brown paper wrappers, yellow paper label, on backstrip, all edges uncut.

Whitman was very ill at the time, and, wanting to see the edition, Horace Traubel had a few copies hurriedly bound in wrappers for him, and Whitman had them sent to intimate friends. This issue is extremely rare and did not exceed fifty copies.

The rest of the edition was bound in dark green cloth, 8vo, uncut, top edge gilt, lettering in gilt on backstrip.

Later issues were in gray paper wrappers, 12mo, green boards, 12mo, uncut, and green cloth, 8vo, and also a few copies in half brown morocco, gilt top.

These issues lack date at bottom of title-page; also some of the later issues have the publisher's address as 1022 Market Street, Philadelphia. A few copies bear the imprint of The Labour Press Society, Manchester.

COMPLETE PROSE WORKS. WALT
WHITMAN.

Large 8vo, green cloth, uncut, gilt lettering on backstrip. DAVID McKAY, Philadelphia, 1892.

[35]

There were later editions dated 1894 and 1897.

1893

IN RE WALT WHITMAN.

Edited by his Literary Executors, Horace L. Traubel, Richard Maurice Bucke, Thomas B. Harned (quotation from Lucretius). Published by the Editors through DAVID McKAY, 23 South Ninth Street, Philadelphia, 1893.

Large 8vo, green cloth, uncut, gilt lettering on backstrip.

One thousand copies published; each copy was supposed to be numbered, but many are found without the stamped number. Many of the early numbers are autographed by one or more of the executors. There were a few copies on thin paper, trimmed edges, in paper wrappers, probably an advance issue.

CALAMUS.

A Series of Letters Written during the Years 1868-1880. By Walt Whitman to a Young Friend (Peter Doyle).

Edited with an introduction by Richard Maurice Bucke, M.D., one of Whitman's literary executors. (Quotation from p. 102, Leaves of Grass, Edition of 1892.)

Published by LAURENS MAYNARD at 287 Congress Street in Boston, MDCCCXCVII. 12mo, green cloth, titles in gilt on back-strip, frontispiece portrait of Whitman and Peter Doyle. LAURENS MAYNARD, Boston, MDCCCXCVII.

There is a special large-paper first issue, 8vo, uncut, paper label, limited to thirty-five numbered copies.

Also a special large-paper issue of thirty-five numbered copies. Light green boards, tan cloth back, uncut, illustrations on Japan vellum. Paper label, with title in green ink. Signed by Dr. Bucke. Small, Maynard and Company, Boston, 1897.

LEAVES OF GRASS.

Including Sands at Seventy, Good-Bye, My Fancy, Old Age Echoes, and A Backward Glance O'er Travel'd Roads. By WALT WHITMAN.

Boston: SMALL, MAYNARD & COMPANY, 1897.

8vo, green cloth, uncut, portrait frontispiece, title and ornamentation in gilt on backstrip, title in gilt on front cover. Also issued in wrappers and limp leather. There are English issues of this edition in paper and cloth. These issues bear the imprint of G. P. Putnam's Sons as well as that of Small, Maynard & Company.

There were various reprints, both American and English up to 1907. Copies of the paper issue, owing to its fragile nature, are now rarely found and copies in good condition are scarce.

There is also a large-paper issue of ninety copies of the "Leaves of Grass and Prose." These are large 8vo, gray-green buckram, uncut, illustrated, paper label. Thirty copies were for Great Britain and bear the imprint of G. P. Putnam's Sons in addition to that of Small, Maynard and Company. Sixty copies were for America and bear the Small, Maynard imprint only. Both are dated 1898.

1898

COMPLETE PROSE WORKS.

Specimen Days and Collect. November Boughs and Good-Bye, My Fancy. By WALT WHITMAN.

SMALL, MAYNARD AND COMPANY, Boston, 1898.

8vo, green cloth, uncut, title and ornamentation in gilt on backstrip, title in gilt on front cover, frontispiece and other illustrations.

Various reprints with slight changes in binding and size were published up to 1907.

1898

WALT WHITMAN AT HOME. By HIMSELF.

Critic Pamphlet No. 2. New York: The Critic Company, 1898.

8vo, sewn, uncut, white paper covers, portrait and facsimile MS.

Whitman first wrote this under the title,
"Walt Whitman in Camden." It was published in the Critic Magazine, February, 1885, and reprinted in "American Authors
at Home," edited by J. L. and J. B. Gilder, 1888. These were written over the signature of George Selwyn. In the Critic pamphlet the facsimile page of manuscript was added and Whitman's name used.

A reprint of "American Authors at Home" was published by A. Wessels Company in 1902. This contains a frontispiece portrait of Walt Whitman.

THE WOUND DRESSER.

A Series of Letters Written from the [40]

Hospitals in Washington during the War of the Rebellion. By WALT WHITMAN. Edited by Richard Maurice Bucke, M.D., one of Whitman's literary executors (device).

8vo, red cloth, uncut, portrait frontispiece. SMALL, MAYNARD AND COMPANY, Boston, 1898.

The earliest copies have the publishers' device on title-page slightly out of center. There is a second issue of this book, which lists the name of G. P. Putnam's Sons under the name of Small, Maynard and Company, and on the verso of title-page is the date 1898, with words, "Printed by the University Press, Cambridge, Mass. U.S.A." In the first issue the copyright date is 1897.

There is a special large-paper first issue, limited to sixty numbered copies signed by the editor. Maroon buckram, uncut, white paper label, portrait on Japan paper. 1898.

NOTES AND FRAGMENTS, by WALT
WHITMAN.

LEAVES OF GRASS. By WALT WHITMAN.

Facsimile Edition of the 1855 text.

Quarto, green cloth, title in gold on backstrip and cover. THOMAS BIRD MOSHER, WILLIAM FRANCIS GABLE, Portland, Maine, MDCCCCXIX.

This is a beautiful facsimile of the first edition, with an introduction giving much bibliographical data. The edition consisted of four hundred copies, two hundred and fifty copies on Old Stratford white moire paper, green cloth, stamped to match the original edition. One hundred copies on Van Gelder hand-made paper, uncut, numbered, blue paper boards, gold stamped. Fifty copies on Japan vellum, numbered and signed by the publisher. Japan vellum boards, gold stamped.

A second issue was published in 1920 with slight changes. Five hundred copies, green cloth.

SELECTIONS FROM THE WORKS OF WALT WHITMAN

1850

VOICES FROM THE PRESS.

A Collection of Essays, Sketches, and Poems. Edited by James J. Brenton.

Large 8vo, black or brown cloth. CHARLES B. NORTON, New York, 1850.

This contains "The Tomb Blossoms," reprinted from the Democratic Review. James J. Brenton was a printer, and at one time employed Whitman as a workman. The book contains a short biography of Whitman as a printer.

1868

POEMS BY WALT WHITMAN.

Selected and edited by William Michael Rossetti.

First issue can be distinguished by the absence of price mark, 7 / 6, on backstrip, which is printed on the second issue. Several pages of advertisements appear either in front or back of both issues. Prefatory notice by Rossetti. Regular preface to the "Leaves" by Whitman, ending with two lines and signature in facsimile MS. Reprinted 8vo, blue and maroon buckram, uncut — 1886-1892-1895-1910, and a new popular edition 1920, 12mo, blue cloth (fine paper edition). All published by Chatto and Windus, London.

Although the first English edition, and an important item, the book is at best a selection. Poems are omitted and titles changed in deference to English opinion, and the prefatory notice reads like an apology for the book. This was the only time that Whitman permitted changes or expurgations.

AMERICAN POEMS.

Selected and edited by William Michael Rossetti.

8vo, decorated ivory enameled boards. Edges bound with brass. All edges gilt.

Title on backstrip differs. Some copies having "American Poems," others "American Poetry," while others have the words "American Poets." London: E. MOXON, SON & Co., Dover St. and 1 Amen Corner, Paternoster Row. N.D. (circa 1873).

A rare and curious item. The book is dedicated to Whitman. Five pages of the preface are devoted to Whitman. Pages 247 to 333 give poems from "Leaves of Grass," with titles as in the Rossetti edition of 1868. Headed by a short biography of Whitman. Also issued in green cloth and half morocco.

Later reprint, Ward, Lock & Co., London. 8vo, green cloth. "American Poetry" gold-stamped on front cover. All edges gilt. Frontispiece portrait of Walt Whitman. N.D. (1875). This edition is printed on different paper, within borders.

—— Also, a reprint with title, "American Poems, a collection of Representative Verse, with short biographies of the most celebrated American authors."

Purple cloth, 8vo, uncut, paper label.
WARD, LOCK AND CO., London.

This issue does not contain the preface.
The book is not dedicated to Whitman and Rossetti's name does not appear on title-page.

1886

LEAVES OF GRASS.

The Poems of Walt Whitman, (Selected,) with an introduction by Ernest Rhys.

16mo, brown cloth, frontispiece, pictorial design and gilt title on backstrip; pictorial design, and the name "Whitman" in gilt panel on front cover. Canterbury Poets Series. WALTER SCOTT, London, 1886.

Later editions were in half leather, some also in blue cloth, uncut, with white paper label. The later editions, although having the same title-page, do not contain the portrait frontispiece, and some copies are dated 1887.

1886

REMINISCENCES of Abraham Lincoln
by Distinguished Men of his time.

POET AND PERSON, by JOHN BURROUGHS.

First issue, brown pebbled cloth, dumpy 12mo, gilt lettering on front cover, back-strip blank, all edges cut and sprinkled. This issue measures $4\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{3}{4}$ inches.

Second issue 12mo, uncut, plain brown cloth. Both issues — New York, AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY, 1867.

There was also a very small issue in plain blue wrappers, entirely uncut. This issue is extremely rare, but two copies being known.

In an early letter of John Burroughs he mentions that only a few copies of the book were issued in the small size. The greater portion of the edition being issued as a regular 12mo. This is a scarce and important item and is the first book on Walt Whitman.

While there is no absolute proof, there is much reason to believe that Whitman edited the book with care and wrote large portions of it himself. It is admitted that in the early part of his career Whitman had a calm indifference to the manner of making his work known. His use of the Emerson letter and his anonymous newspaper reviews were to him only a method of making his message plain.

Burroughs, then a very young man, and almost unknown, also an intimate friend and admirer, would, doubtless, readily agree to Whitman's lending a hand on his first book. A careful reading of almost any portion of the text will show much that is like Whitman in style and method. It is also significant that after 1871 this book was not reprinted, and was never included in sets of John Burroughs's works.
